

epsotech Partners with Primex on HDPE Materials

Böblingen, October 13th, 2025 epsotech part of SKENDER Group, is pleased to announce a strategic sales cooperation with Primex, a global leader in extruded sheet and roll stock. This agreement immediately secures the continued supply of high-quality HDPE materials up to 12mm thickness for its customers across Europe.

Following the planned closure of epsotech Germany, this new cooperation guarantees the ongoing availability of HDPE materials within the epsotech portfolio and safeguards uninterrupted service to customers. Under the agreement, Primex will be responsible for the production of HDPE plastic sheets, while epsotech will retain full responsibility for sales, order management and customer service across its markets.

This collaboration enables epsotech to continue delivering its established HDPE product range with the same quality standards, technical specifications, and supply reliability that customers have come to expect.

“By partnering with Primex, we have secured a long-term and sustainable solution for our HDPE product line,” said Predrag Skender, owner and CEO of epsotech part of SKENDER Group. “Our customers can rely on continuous supply, identical product performance, and the same trusted support they are accustomed to. This cooperation allows epsotech to strengthen its focus on innovation and customer value while ensuring business continuity.”

Importantly, for epsotech customers, operational and commercial changes will be at an absolute minimal. Primex is fully committed to supporting all existing product requirements and agreements. Customers should note that all existing sales contacts and communication channels will remain exactly the same. By working closely with a highly capable and like-minded partner, epsotech is able to maintain consistent service levels while optimizing production resources within the SKENDER Group network.

“We are very pleased to collaborate with epsotech on this initiative,” said Mike Cramer, President of Primex. “Our companies share the same values: technical excellence, reliability, and customer-first focus. Together, we are exceptionally well positioned to ensure stable and efficient supply of top-tier HDPE sheet materials, supporting the critical needs of the European plastics industry.”
