

Another milestone on the green journey

And the Oscar goes to – epsotech as winner of the KUNSTSTOFF MAGAZIN Product of the Year 2023

Jülich, March 2023 40 nominees competed in five categories for the KUNSTSTOFF MAGAZIN Product of the Year 2023. The winners were honored on the evening of March 9, 2023.

The editorial team counted more than 6,000 online votes when the reader voting ended at the end of January. epsotech applied with its HDPE playground sheets made of 100% Sea Plastics and was recognized by a very strict jury - the readers and users of KUNSTSTOFF MAGAZIN. The award thus directly reflects their opinion and experience.

epsotech has achieved a great 3rd place in the production category with very strong competition like Arburg or Engel. And what is even more exciting, epsotech has been the only producer of plastic sheets.

“We are totally excited and proud that our green mission is visible and that we convince with our innovative epsoearth solutions”, expresses Daniel Hefele – Business Development Director epsoearth. “This award is a clear sign that we are on the right track and that the market is responding to and actively demanding our solutions for post-consumer materials”.

epsotech’s aim is to expand the postconsumer recycling range to become the industry’s frontrunner in providing low carbon plastic sheet solutions made from PCR. True to the motto "environmental protection should not be the consumer's problem only", epsotech develops innovative products that help its customers reach their environmental goals.

The new epsoearth product range only includes products with a PCR content of at least 30% - from Sea Plastics made from old fishing nets and ropes to innovative PE, ABS or PS based post-consumer materials.

About epsotech:
